Ken Thomas reported on CIM’s activities for the past year, covering and commenting on the highlights of his presidency year. He spoke about the objectives that were set in May 2017 such as; to introduce changes to the organization, the commencement of treasury recovery and gaining traction of the strategic plan. The status of these objectives as of May 2018 was shared indicating the restructuring of CIM National Office, especially the appointment of a new Executive Director, Angela Hamlyn, the treasury increase by $250K and the anticipation that the two organized conferences, CIM annual Convention and RFG, will assist in increasing the treasury.

He also spoke about the introduction of the Life Members fee ($75), the creation and launch of the new Branch Manual as part of the One CIM project, progress on compliance with Canadian Anti-Spam Legislation (CASL) and the Canadian Mining Hall of Fame honorary Distinguished Lecturer starting this year.
Ken Thomas thanked the staff at CIM National for their support and hard work throughout the year.

Mark Patterson commented and summarized the financial information as presented in the 2017 CIM Annual Report and the Audited Financial Statements that were assembled by Deloitte this year. He also explained that the investments presented are managed by CIM National office but, in large part, belong to the Societies and Branches. The investment advisors are Scotia McLeod. The investments are primarily fixed income and the investments options will be reviewed in 2018 by the Risk and Audit Committee with the objective of increasing annual returns on investments.

Motion was passed to acknowledge that the audited CIM financial statements were presented at the annual general meeting.

8. Installment of Janice Zinck as 2018-2019 President of CIM
Ken Thomas as President, gave a brief biography of Janice’s background and wished her success for the coming year.

Janice thanked the past year’s leadership, which included past presidents and staff for their engagement and support during this year.

She gave a brief summary of some of the items that will be focused on during her tenure:

- Strengthen the collaboration and integration between the societies, the branches and the members towards a new CIM as we transform to One CIM, where everyone will have a place, will be able contribute to the institute and better position CIM.

- Capitalize on opportunities to increase CIM’s profile, input and influence as a trusted voice. This includes playing a more strategic role in national and international initiatives such as the Canadian Minerals and Metals Plan. She also commented on discussion regarding changing the Executive Director’s title to CEO to give the ED the same profile as other industry executives.

- Work with constituents and staff to drive membership growth and diversity and to further advance the strategic plan that was put in place a few years ago, particularly in the areas of professional development and mining’s role in society.
9. Recognition of Past President 2017-2018 Ken Thomas
Ken Thomas was congratulated for his dedication and commitment as CIM President and was presented with a CIM Past President’s pin and gift. CIM members were also informed that Ken will continue to play an active role in the Presidential Council and serve as the Chairman on the Governance Committee.
